The World of Private Castles, Palaces and Estates by Châteaux Privés opens the door on twenty unique venues for that special event

Some of the world's finest privately owned properties are featured in a series of soft cover books entitled The World of Private Castles, Palaces and Estates. These luxury volumes are the creation of Freda Katritzky, a Monaco-based entrepreneur and publisher of Châteaux Privés.

Volume One is hot off the press and within its 128 pages are 20 of the world's most fascinating privately owned properties from Scotland to India. All of them can be visited or rented. They the stylish Château de Villette close to Paris to be seen in the movie The Da Vinci Code starring Tom Hanks directed by Ron Howard. In the movie it serves as the luxurious home of Sir Leigh Teabing the eccentric historian played by Ian McKellan.

Owners of other properties featured include Princess Gloria of Thurn and Taxis; the Maharajah of Jodhpur; the Duke of Argyll; George Frederick Prince of Prussia with the fairy-tale Hohenzollern Castle; and the Marquess
